How do I know if a website's information is reliable?

Ask yourself the following questions.

Who? Who runs the website?

Is the site trying to educate you instead of sell to you?
Are they qualified to talk about the subject?

What? What does the website say?

Are facts presented instead of opinions?
Are claims realistic?

When? When was the website updated?

Is information up-to-date?

Where? Where did the information come from?

Can the facts be verified?
Is the author qualified to write about the topic?

Why? Why does the website exist?

Does the website want to educate you instead of sell to you?
